1 // (function(modules) { // webpackBootstrap
2 //   var parentHotUpdateCallback = this["webpackHotUpdate"];
3 //   this["webpackHotUpdate"] =
4 //     function webpackHotUpdateCallback(chunkId, moreModules) { // eslint-disable-line no-unused-vars
5 //       hotAddUpdateChunk(chunkId, moreModules);
6 //       if(parentHotUpdateCallback) parentHotUpdateCallback(chunkId, moreModules);
7 /**/     }
8 /**/
9 //   function hotDownloadUpdateChunk(chunkId) { // eslint-disable-line no-unused-vars
10 //     var head = document.getElementsByTagName("head")[0];
11 //     var script = document.createElement("script");
12 //     script.type = "text/javascript";
13 //     script.charset = "utf-8";
14 //     script.src = __webpack_require__.p + "" + chunkId + "." + hotCurrentHash + ".hot-update.js";
15 //     head.appendChild(script);
16 /**/   }
17 /**/ }
